

Dr Mike Smith, Kingston University/Journal of Maps
<http://www.centreforgis.org.uk/staff/smith.htm>

HEFCE Research Excellence Framework:

<http://www.hefce.ac.uk/research/ref/>

Excellence in Research for Australia:

<http://www.arc.gov.au/era/>

ERA Journal Ranking List:

<http://lamp.infosys.deakin.edu.au/era/>

ResearcherID:

<http://www.researcherid.com>

Geography Journals

<http://www.photopress.com/stock-photos/napic/ty/harbor/2/53724>

Journal of maps

Journal of Maps

<http://www.journalofmaps.com>

Credit Where Credit's Due: developing authorship strategies in the geosciences. Smith, M.J., Jordan, C. and Walsby, J. Proceedings of the Geologists' Association

<http://dx.doi.org/10.1016/j.pgeola.2010.10.001>

Key Points:

1. “Modern” academic: publishing is not just about dissemination, but also impact and your career
2. Geography is by nature interdisciplinary, but hasn’t capitalised on it
3. Journal of Maps provides an example of inter-disciplinary publishing

Key question: ask yourself, what is your main driver for publishing?